 English Title: Living with a deaf dog.
 Extent: 64 pp., Paperback, colour throughout.
 ISBN/Price: 978-3-942335-08-9 € 14,90.
 Description: There are more deaf dogs than you might imagine, enjoying life just as hearing dogs do. A lot of puppies that are born deaf are euthanised, but a deaf dog isn't significantly disabled; he still has his fine nose and his eyes, which are far more important faculties to a dog. When a deaf dog misbehaves, it's usually not because he is aggressive or disobedient; generally, it's because his owner is unaware of the best way in which to communicate with and handle his dog. This invaluable book will sympathetically help owners of deaf and hard-of-hearing dogs not just to accept their loyal companions for what they are, but how, with love and careful thought, they and their dog can get the maximum out of life, having fun and establishing an even closer bond as they help each other find new or adapted ways to live together.

 German Title: Wer denken will, muss fühlen. Mit Herz und Verstand zu einem besseren Umgang mit Hunden.
 English Title: »The Cognitive Feel« - With Soul and Mind towards a better Understanding of Dogs
 Pages: 208 pp., b/w, no illustrations, 64.508 words
 ISBN/Price: 978-3-942335-00-3 € 19,90
 Description: This book focuses on the psychology of the human-dog relationship from a new perspective. In current dog training literature and practice, one can observe two different extremes: The pure behaviorists, who promote a rather mechanical view of training (everything is just a matter of stimulus and reaction), and the »whisperers«, who seem to have a mysterious bond to dogs and communicate with them on a spiritual level only. Elisabeth Beck, psychologist and dog trainer, convincingly shows that we need both – our cool mind and our emotional skills, to effectively communicate and happily live with our dogs. She looks at past and current theories of thought, behavior research and gives many examples from everyday life.
